What is a full-time equivalent employee?

For the purposes of determining whether an employer is a small or large employer as defined by the Affordable Care Act (ACA) and applicable California law, the employer is required to calculate its total number of "Full-Time Equivalent" (FTE) employees. This number determines whether the employer is eligible to participate in Covered California for Small Business. The FTE number is also important for determining whether an employer is an Applicable Large Employer (ALE) and subject to the "Pay or Play" mandate under Section 4980H of the Internal Revenue Code.

An FTE employee is not an actual employee but a calculation involving all part-time and full-time employees who worked during the preceding calendar year or calendar quarter. In determining whether to use the calendar year or calendar quarter test, the calculation shall use the test that ensures eligibility if only one test would ensure eligibility. See Section 1357.500(k)(1) of the Health and Safety Code for further information. If the employer did not exist in the prior calendar year or calendar quarter, the employer shall determine the average number of employees who are reasonably expected to work on business days in the current calendar year. That figure will establish whether the employer is eligible for coverage through Covered California for Small Business.

For purposes of determining whether an employer is an Applicable Large Employer that is subject to the "Pay or Play mandate," the calculation only involves the employment figures from the prior calendar year. See Section 4980H of the Internal Revenue Code and the IRS website for more details.

Instructions

1. Calculate your total FTE number. For information on how to perform the FTE calculation, please visit the IRS website at <https://www.irs.gov/uac/Small-Business-Health-Care-Tax-Credit-Questions-and-Answers:-Determining-FTEs-and-Average-Annual-Wages>.
2. Use the final FTE figure as the number you use to fill in box 7 on page 2 of this application

Important to Know:

- If your FTE number is at least 50, you are required to offer coverage to all dependent children up to the age of 26 or face a monetary penalty. See Section 4980H of the Internal Revenue Code.
- Calculating the total FTE number is your responsibility as an employer.
- Covered California cannot provide assistance with the FTE calculation. Please consult with a Certified Insurance Agent or visit the IRS website for assistance.
